girlawhirl finds the ultimate in handmade chocolates from garrison confections

May 2, 2006

Always in pursuit of the best chocolate, and perhaps on her own personal quest—happily shared with like-minded Super Pals—for the ultimate in chocolate nirvana, Girlawhirl recently encountered—and unabashedly indulged in—chocolate so wonderful that it is currently considered by her and her discerning Super Pals to be as close to the Holy Grail of Chocolate as they have ever experienced...

Toffee worth its weight in calories. Truffles like jeweled works of art. Peanut butter patties that aren't sugary sweet. Bars of white, milk or dark chocolate studded with candied nuts and dried fruits. Squirtles: squares reminiscent of the traditional turtles. All that and a lot more are created by Andrew Shotts for Garrison Confections. Girlawhirl doesn't think she's ever said "yummmmm" out loud so many times!

Topping Girlawhirl's list of indulgences is the seasonal truffle collection, inspired and named after the lunar calendar and named accordingly: Summer Solstice, Autumnal Equinox, Winter Solstice, and Vernal Equinox. Special flavors are available only during those particular seasons and then retired.

The silky smoothness of the Honey Lavender and fun flavored Green Apple and Piña Colada chocolates provide the perfect counterpunch to a spicy Habanero truffle. But what she loves most about the assorted chocolates is that the fruit filled ones, like Red Berry and Triple Play, are actually filled with delicious, real fruit pate. No sugary goo here, it's all fresh and real.

And for a perfect snack while running around or traveling, Girlawhirl can't get enough of the Fruit and Nut Tablet. The bars are so perfectly designed it looks as if each and every piece of fruit (and nut) was placed with loving care.

Girlawhirl is heading straight for the Garrison Confections website to order her Mother's Day gifts this year. And for herself and her Super Pals? The Ultimate Hot Cocoa which makes for mouth-watering cholocatinis as well!
